MISSION STATEMENT

Since 1913, Valdosta State University has been a major provider of educational services for South Georgia. The beauty and consistency of its Spanish Mission style of architecture are indicative of its dedication to serving the region's heritage while developing programs and services to enhance its future.

Within the context of the University System's mission and vision, Valdosta State University possesses the core characteristics of a regional university.

The core characteristics include:

- * a commitment to excellence and responsiveness within a scope of influence defined by the needs of a specific region of the state and by particularly outstanding programs or distinctive characteristics that have a magnet effect even beyond the region;
- * a campus-wide commitment to a technologically enhanced learning community that promotes student success, sustains instructional excellence, serves a diverse and well-prepared student body, offers academic assistance, and provides learning enrichment for all students;
- * a range of disciplinary and interdisciplinary academic programming at the baccalaureate and master's levels, as well as a range of professional programs at the baccalaureate and post-baccalaureate levels, including a limited number of professionally oriented doctoral-level programs;
- * a commitment to public service, continuing education, technical assistance, and economic development activities that addresses the needs, improves the quality of life, and raises the educational level within the university's scope of influence;
- * a commitment to scholarly and creative work to enhance instructional effectiveness and to encourage faculty scholarly pursuits and a commitment to research in selected areas of institutional strength and focused on regional need.

As a regional university in South Georgia, Valdosta State cooperates with other University System institutions to ensure that the region receives the services it needs. To expand its programmatic outreach, it develops and offers programs by distance learning and at off-campus locations throughout the region. It will continue to exercise a leadership role in meeting the needs of the region, particularly in providing access to professionally oriented doctoral programs, primarily in education, and to applied research.

VSU prides itself on offering nationally accredited programs in Art, Business, Music, Nursing, Sports Medicine, Speech-Language Pathology, School Psychology, Theatre, Public Administration, Social Work, and Teacher Education which have a magnet effect beyond the institution's primary setting. In its academic credit programming, VSU will place a priority on developing existing programs that aid the educational, economic, cultural, and social advancement of its region and new programs in health-related professions and public administration. The programs will continue to be supported by strong preparatory courses and majors in the humanities, sciences, and social studies. VSU also remains committed to pre-professional programs preparing its undergraduate students for medical, legal, technical, and other professional study.

In its service to students, VSU concentrates on those from the region including a large number of older, non-traditional students who live and work off campus and many who transfer from other institutions. To serve its region and to attain maximum educational benefits, the university promotes an atmosphere which attracts a diversified student body, of which a representative proportion will be minority students.

VSU promotes a successful learning experience by maintaining services for minority, disabled, veteran, international, and other students with special needs. To aid in developing the whole student, it provides counseling, health services, academic advising, special assistance, honors programs, international programs, career planning, and many co-curricular activities.

VSU is committed to providing life-long learning and to the economic and cultural development of its region. It offers various non-credit programs and services through the South Georgia Institute, ArtSouth, the Valdosta Symphony Orchestra, the Music Society, and other organizations. Community relations are enhanced through alumni services and VSU-TV and Radio. Community service and technical assistance are offered by faculty and staff in a variety of forms.

Research, scholarship, and creative endeavors exist primarily to meet the regional needs of schools, businesses, and other organizations and to promote faculty development and instructional improvement.

VSU aspires to improve continuously the quality and effectiveness of its programs, scholarship, and student services. Assessment of programs, the raising of standards, and the refinement of learning technologies will improve the university. To aid in obtaining this objective, institutional research and planning, external funding, and collaborative relationships with other institutions will be promoted. To a great extent, VSU will continue to develop as a regional university serving its South Georgia constituency by implementing programs that meet student needs and providing the maximum opportunity for faculty development.

Office of the President

Ronald M. Zaccari is the president of Valdosta State University, in Valdosta, Georgia. Zaccari became Valdosta State University's seventh president on January 7, 2002, following five years as president of West Liberty State College, in West Liberty, West Virginia.

Since his arrival, Zaccari has worked to establish a strategic plan for Valdosta State University, one that provides clear direction and defined goals for future growth. This year he is working with campus and community leaders to develop a new physical master plan for the campus. This master plan will reflect the University's overall strategic goals, address the changing profiles of the campus, and design new buildings, use of space, landscape, walkways, traffic patterns, and parking.

President Zaccari is actively involved in productive partnerships with the city and county, public school systems, medical community, Chamber of Commerce, and many other local and regional organizations that are committed to enhancing the educational, cultural, and economic development of this region. He is an active participant in the newly formed Partnership for Metropolitan Development. This group will serve as the catalyst for creative thinking to promote a strategic vision for our geographic region and build partnerships to enhance economic development.

Prior to his first presidential appointment at West Liberty State College, Zaccari was provost and vice president for academic affairs at Southeastern Louisiana University in Hammond, Louisiana, an institution of approximately 13,000 students. Zaccari has held art professorships at Edinboro State College and the University of Colorado. This is the sixteenth edition of the Valdosta State University Fact Book, and each year we have made changes and improvements. The information has been structured so that it can be used by faculty and administrators for assessment and planning. The amount of information in the Fact Book has increased each year and different approaches have been used to display the changes in the institutional characteristics. An on-line version of the Fact Book is accessible via the VSU World Wide Web page.

To increase the usefulness and the content of future issues of the VSU Fact Book, an evaluation form is located at the back of the book. Additionally, if you have any thoughts or suggestions for the on-line fact book, please write them in the comments section. Faculty and administrators are strongly encouraged to complete and return the form to the Office of Institutional Research and Policy Analysis.

Our appreciation is extended to the University Offices which assisted us with the development and collection of information. We are especially indebted to the Deans, Directors, and Department Heads who provided information for inclusion in this sixteenth edition of the Fact Book. ### History

The idea of establishing a state college in the Valdosta area originated with local citizenry. State representative C. R. Ashley and State Senator William S. West presented bills proposing the establishment of a college in Valdosta to the House of Representatives and the Senate, respectively, in 1906. By an act of the Georgia State Legislature in 1906, the establishment of an agricultural, industrial, and normal college in South Georgia, as a branch of the University of Georgia, was approved.

The institution was named the South Georgia State Normal College for young ladies in 1913. All functions of the college were located in one building, Converse Hall. The state approved operating budget for the first year was $50,000. In the initial quarter of operation, the college had two chief administrators (Dr. R. H. Powell, President, and J. M. Guillian, Superintendent of the Training School), ten faculty members, a matron, a secretary and bookkeeper.

An act of legislature in 1922 changed the name to Georgia State Woman's College and authorized a four-year program leading to a bachelor's degree. The Board of Regents made the College co-educational in 1950 and changed the name to Valdosta State College. Valdosta State College became a Regional University within the University System of Georgia on July 1, 1993. In 1998 Valdosta State University began operating on the semester system.

Valdosta State University offers undergraduate degree work leading to the Associate of Applied Science, the Associate of Arts, the Bachelor of Arts in 14 major programs including the Bachelor of Arts in Criminal Justice, the Bachelor of Applied Science, the Bachelor of Science in 11 major programs, the Bachelor of General Studies, the Bachelor of Science in Nursing, the Bachelor of Science in Exercise Science, the Bachelor of Science in Education in 14 major programs, the Bachelor of Business Administration in 5 major programs, the Bachelor of Fine Arts in 6 major programs, and the Bachelor of Music in 2 major programs. Definitions:

- Gross Area = The sum of all areas on all floors of a building included within the outside faces of its exterior walls, including floor penetration areas, however insignificant, for circulation and shaft areas that connect one floor to another.
(Note: Gross Area was further defined by the Board of Regents as being from one drip edge of a building to the other, because the roof must also be maintained.)
- Assignable Area = The sum of all areas on all floors of a building assigned to, or available for assignment to, an occupant or specific use.
- Circulation Area = The sum of all areas on all floors of a building required for physical access to some subdivision of space, whether physically bounded by partitions or not.
- Mechanical Area = The sum of all areas on all floors of a building used for public restrooms and designed to house mechanical equipment, utility services, and shaft areas.
- Construction Area = The sum of all areas on all floors of a building that cannot be occupied or put to use because of structural building features.
- Custodial Area = The sum of all areas on all floors of a building used for custodial supplies, sink rooms, and janitorial closets.
- Net Usable Area = The sum of all areas on all floors of a building either assigned to, or available for assignment to, an occupant or specific use, or necessary for the general operation of a building.

The 12 hour/week formula is used to determine Faculty Positions Earned under the semester system, assuming the professors will teach an average of 12 hours per week.

NOTE: The University System operates under a formula funding system. The formula serves as a basis for requesting funding from the Legislature only and is not used to allocate money to the various institutions.

NOTE: Differences between Credit Hour Production and Faculty Positions Earned and Detailed Credit Hours and Faculty Positions Earned on the previous table are due to rounding.

COMPUTER FACILITIES

The university operates a variety of sophisticated, state-of-the-art computing and data networking facilities to support its academic, research and administrative activities. The facilities include several powerful UNIX-based central servers, 2,800 microcomputers, 65 high-end workstations and 40-45 distributed file servers running Novell NetWare or Microsoft NT, all of which are interconnected via a high speed data network.

VSU was recognized nationally in October 2001 by Yahoo! Internet Life magazine as one of the 'Top 100 Most Wired' campuses in the United States and is known in the University System of Georgia as a technology leader. Located in the Computer Center in Nevins Hall, 2 Hewlett-Packard 9000 large-scale business servers, models K460 and N4000, support all of the student information system as well as several other applications. VSU keeps updated with the state-wide implementation of the SCT Banner Student Information and Financial Aid Systems, which greatly enhances student support operations such as admissions, registration, advising and financial aid processing. Student registration and general access to data can be easily accomplished via the Web, the Campus Pipeline portal, and touch-tone telephone via the EPOS Integrated Voice Response System. The Business and Financial Software System from PeopleSoft Corporation, installed centrally by the Board of Regents, has been managed by VSU since June 1999 and placed in full production in November 2001. All systems utilize the Oracle RDBMS database product.

Housed in the Systems Support Center in Ashley Hall, a load balanced series of Sun E220R and E280R servers provide electronic mail services for the students, faculty and staff. A Sun 450 server supports the Campus Pipeline web portal product for the campus. Sun E420R and E450 servers provide live and archived video streaming for the campus, to include interface with VSU-TV. A Sun Server E420R supports VSU's popular and heavily utilized World Wide Web site and its thousands of pages. Another Sun Server E420R provides the WebCT online course server. A Sun Ultra Sparc 10 provides web-accessible mailing list services using the open source Mailman product. A pair of Sun Netra X1 systems provide DNS and DHCP services for the valdosta.edu domain. A Compaq Proliant ML350 NT5 server supports Microsoft FrontPage web page development for faculty and students. At the time of this writing 3 Sun V880 servers, 2 Sun E280R servers, and a 3510 storage array are being configured to replace existing equipment and to support the services listed above.

An extensive fiber-optic based data network, with its central hub of bridges and routers located in Pine Hall, provides Ethernet/Fast Ethernet (10/100 Mbps) and Gigabit Ethernet communications between all servers and microcomputers. The 20 miles of fiber and 62 miles of copper wire connect the main campus buildings, as well as three on North Campus, the VSU Regional Center for Continuing Education 1.0 mile away, Plant Operations 1.5 miles away and 12 buildings adjacent to the main campus. Internet access is provided via a Packet-Over-Sonet circuit (currently 25Mbps) to the state-wide PeachNet network. In addition to the 'hard-wired' network described, VSU has also implemented an impressive wireless data network. Over 100 wireless access points have been installed in 20 buildings around the campus to create an 'umbrella' of coverage unrivaled by any school in the University System. All resident students have wireless capability; seven academic buildings and Odum Library are supported, as well as three student 'hang-outs' locations. To increase utilization 10 roll-around carts with 20 wireless laptops each have been provided to various academic departments for student checkout to use in classes. Microcomputers are provided to every faculty member and all staff in administrative offices. A total of 1,400 microcomputers are available to students in 48 labs and classrooms, with 10-50 machines each, located throughout the campus. Special purpose labs provide CAD, molecular modeling, graphics, and music software to support programs such as Pre-Engineering, Interior Design, Chemistry, and Music. Two labs are installed at Kings Bay Naval Base to support VSU operations at that location. All machines have the campus standard software installed: Microsoft Windows and Office Professional, communications products (Internet Explorer, Outlook, Netscape, Eudora, and others) and virus protection software. Various microcomputer servers, Sun and Silicon Graphics high-end workstations, local networks and other facilities are located in the colleges and administrative offices to provide additional support to students, faculty, and staff.

VSU's Odum Library operates two student computer labs with 20 PC's each, has 50 more PC's in student-friendly locations throughout the building and has 35 Galileo workstations. The library implemented a new web catalog from the Endeavor Company in January 2001, called GIL (Galileo Interconnected Libraries), which is now used by all University System schools. GIL provides not only a web interfaced catalog, but also the Georgia State Union Catalog (formerly PALS), making it possible to place electronic requests for books held by other USG libraries.

Specific information on the above can be obtained at the Information Technology division offices located in Ashley Hall, Second Floor, South or at its HELP-Desk in Ashley Hall, Rm. 114.

Clubs and Organizations

There is a diversity of clubs and student organizations at Valdosta State University, including nine national sororities, ten national fraternities, various service organizations, honor societies, departmental clubs, and religious organizations. All students are members of the Student Government Association (SGA). The purpose of this organization is to work for the best interests of the students; cooperate with the VSU administration, faculty, and staff in all matters of common interest to the University; approve and coordinate campus student organizations, and provide a means of communication between the students and all areas of their university. Representatives are elected in annual campus elections and meet weekly.

Career Services

The Office of Career Services is available to assist VSU students in choosing their major programs of study, their career objectives, and in obtaining satisfactory employment upon graduation. Individual career counseling is available for students who wish to explore how their abilities, values, and interests match particular career fields. Various career-oriented workshops are offered each semester.

Cooperative Education

Valdosta State University offers all students the opportunity to gain work experience directly related to their academic majors, gain valuable experience in their chosen fields, and earn money for their educational expenses. Students will develop professional work habits and will have an opportunity to make valuable career contacts.

Counseling Center

The Counseling Center offers a variety of services to all students, prospective students, staff and faculty at Valdosta State University, free of charge. Professionally trained counselors are available to assist with any personal, social, or educational concerns. The Center provides individual and group consultation in addition to offering outreach programs to various target groups on campus, in the residence halls, and in the community.

Financial Aid

The primary purpose of the student aid program is to make higher education a reality for persons who would be unable to attend without financial assistance. This assistance may include grants, loans, work programs, and scholarships. The Financial Aid Office also houses the Veterans Affairs Office, which has been set up to assist all veterans at VSU with their education.

Foreign Student Advisor

Valdosta State University employs a full-time foreign student advisor who provides support services to the international student community at VSU.

Health Services

The University Health Service provides health care for students in a six-bed infirmary under the supervision of a university physician, a physician's assistant, and registered nurses. The objective of the student health service is to maintain a state of optimum health among the student body and to educate each student to proper attitudes and habits regarding personal and community health.

Intercollegiate Athletics

Valdosta State University's men's and women's programs compete in the Gulf South Conference, which is composed of seventeen institutions in Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Florida, and Arkansas. The Gulf South Conference is part of Division II of the NCAA.

Campus Recreation

The new student recreation center provides the VSU community with modern recreational options and equipment.

The Intramural Sports Program provides students, faculty, and staff with the opportunity to participate in well organized programs of recreational sports and special event activities. Intramural activities include: basketball, flag football, softball, volleyball, tennis, raquetball, ultimate frisbee, and soccer. The Intramural Sports Program offers the students, faculty, and staff at VSU over 30 different activities to participate in during the academic year.

Student Publications

Valdosta State University provides opportunities for experience in journalism through The Spectator, the campus newspaper; The Odradek, the literary arts magazine; and other student publications.

Equal Opportunity Programs, Multicultural Affairs, and Special Services

Students who feel they have been discriminated against on the basis of their sex, race, religion, color, national origin or handicap, should contact the Office of Equal Opportunity Programs and Multicultural Affairs.

The Special Services Program serves students that have documented disabilities. These students voluntarily register with the program and must meet Board of Regents' criteria. The types of disabilities include but are not limited to learning disabled, visually impaired, hearing impaired, mobility impaired, attention deficit disorder, and other health impairments.

Some services include classroom and testing accommodations, textbooks in alternate formats, tutoring, instruction in learning strategies, access to adaptive technology, and referral to other services.
